Outlay for raw material, fuel, supplies, rarely equals the pay roll by month or year. Usually wages amount to twice the cost of materials: in many factories where the finish and accuracy of parts require elaborate processes, the money spent for men trebles the expenditure for the wood and iron which they fashion into finished product. Is this overwhelming importance of labor recognized in the methods used in bargaining for it? Analysis shows the contrary to be true. The purchasing agent for materials bulks large in every organization of size. In rank and salary he is the peer of the sales manager. It is conceded that the profits of the house depend on his ability to buy right, to forestall market fluctuation, to secure raw stock of standard...
